Additional Information:

Wyatt purchased 200 acres of land on "Freeman Creek, waters of Broad River" in Wilkes County, GA, in Sept., 1790. In 1793 he was listed on the Elbert County, GA, Muster Roll. He sold a part of the above property on Freeman Creek (now listed in Franklin County) for $50 on June 7, 1799. In 1812 he purchased an additional 50 acres of land in Franklin County on Graggs Creek, adjoining Ivy Freeman in GA. Tax Digests Vol. II & III: he owned land in Franklin County in 1800 & 1805 and Elbert County in 1801.

Temperance Freeman Cleveland was one of 4 sisters: Temperance Cleveland, Mary Wheeler, Susannah Pressel, and Ann Simmonds, who received "money divided equally" from the sale of negro slaves following the death of their brother James Freeman of Elbert County, GA, in 1814 (Will Book K, 1812-16, pp. 83-84 Elbert County, GA). Their husbands received the remainder of James Freeman's estate, that is 1880 acres of land, various stock, etc. Apparently, James Freeman's wife Rhoda died before he did as there was no mention of her in his will, and no children either.

Wyatt & Temperance received title to their 120 acres from the James Freeman estate, & Wyatt purchased an additional 50 acres adjoining that property on Freeman's Creek, & then later in 1821 he purchased another 138 acres adjoining that.

Temperance was listed as the only person in the household, age 60-70 years, on p. 218 of the 1830 Reconstituted Franklin County, GA, census records.

Wyatt's estate was appraised in Franklin County, GA, in May & June, 1830, (Probate Records Book DD, p. 63 & "Loose Estate Papers," originals of which are on file in GA State Archives in Atlanta). An estate sale of animals, tools, cured meats, etc, was held June 17 & 18, 1830. Robert L. Lane and Joseph Cleveland were the primary buyers. Among items on the estate were 37 hogs, 12 cows, 1 yoke oxen, 7 sheep, 6 horses, 4 geese, 50 barrels corn, 360 lbs. cured pork, 14 "Middleings bacon 320 lbs, 3 bee hives, various farm wagons & tools, plus household beds, bedding, chairs, & 13 slaves.

Other papers in the "Loose Estate Papers" included "Rept. No. 2" for $1589 signed by Temperance Cleveland from "Robert L. Lane, Adm." & dated Nov., 1831.

On Oct. 8, 1835 "Robert L. Lane in rights of his wife & as attorney for Joseph Cleveland of the state of AL, Tuscaloosa County, & Temperance Cleveland" sold 700 acres "plantation tract or parcel of land" to George Rucker for $1000 (Franklin County, GA, Book DD, p. 63).

AL Soldiers of the Revolutionary War of 1812 & Indian Wars says "Cleveland, Joseph. (War of 1812) Tuscaloosa County, Served in GA Militia. Cleveland, Joseph, Lt. 208th Dist. Co. (Franklin County) GM Feb. 22, 1812 (Dec. 12, 1814), April 8, 1813." In a Bounty Land Warrant Joseph declares he was a private in Capt. Sandridge's Co. in Col. Harris Regt of GA Volunteers in the War with the Creek Indians. Was at the battles of Camp Defiance & Ottersee. That he received an 80-acre warrant under Act Sept, 1850, No. 264; that he volunteered at Carnesville, Franklin County, GA, & served 6 months & was honorably discharged at Milledgeville, GA, on or about March 10, 1814.

1830 Tuscaloosa County, AL census, p. 654, gives Joseph Cleveland age 40-50, wife 30-40, 3 males 10-15 years, one male 5-10 & 2 males minus 5 years. The 1840 AL census index states he still lived in Tuscaloosa County.

1850 Tuscaloosa County, AL census, p. 172, Dist 1 #293 gives Joseph's age as 59, born GA, a farmer worth $5000 wife Martha age 58, born SC. Their sons Castleton & Joseph are also listed.

The Harp Family

By Adrianne Harp Moore

Of Scotch, Irish, and English ancestry, the first representatives of the Harp family in America settled in North Caroline in the 17th century. The Harps came from Ireland, the Clevelands, with whom they intermarried, and who trace their ancestry to Oliver Cromwell, came from England, and the McMillans came from Scotland.

Richard Harp fought with the colonial troops of North Carolina during the Revolution, Green Pinkney Harp fought in the Mexican Was, William Dixon, Alfred, and James Wright, sons of Green Pinkney Harp did valiant service in the Confederate army during the War Between the States, and during the World War this branch of the family was represented by William Dixon Harp, Jr., who spent a year with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, and by Oliver Cromwell Cleveland III, who lost his life when his ship struck a mine off the coast of Ireland.

Dixon Harp, first representative of the family in Georgia, was born in North Carolina in 1763. His wife, Celia, was born in South Carolina in 1782. The exact date of their coming to Georgia is not known but they are listed as owners of realty in Upson County in the census of 1824-25 and Dixon Harp drew lands in the Cherokee lottery of 1827 and in the lottery of 1835. Records show that he was a trustee of Auchumpkee Academy a school established in Upson County in 1833. At the age of Ninety-five he died in 1858 and his wife Celia Harp died in 1857. They are buried in Glenwood cemetery in Thomaston, Georgia.

Born to Dixon and Celia Harp, were twelve children, as follows: Mary, John L., William L., Elizabeth, Green Pinkney, Ann, Martin L., Sarah, Alfred Pleasant, Lucinda C., Celia, and Luannah.

Green Pinkney Harp(1807-1859)from whom the Harp Family of Macon County is descended, married Martha Cleveland (1818-1859) and settled in Crawford County, later moving to Macon County. In early manhood he served in the Mexican War and later he amassed a comfortable fortune. At the crucial period just preceding the War Between the States, he was stricken with erysipelas and died on Jan. 23, 1859. His wife, Martha Cleveland Harp, died of the same dread disease eighteen days later, on Feb. 10,

William Dixon Harp Family

by Cleveland Jay Harp III

William Dixon Harp was born on 3 May, 1836, in Crawford County, Georgia, second child and first son of Greene Pinckney Harp and Martha Thomas Cleveland Harp. He served in the Confederate Army's 27th Georgia Regiment, Company C. (See Hays, pp. 545-546) Upon his return, he moved to Bainbridge, Georgia, where on 20 September, 1871, he married Mary Ann McMillan of River Junction, Florida. Mary Ann McMillan was the ninth and last child of John McMillan and Mary Gilchrist McPhaul McMillan, b. 6 October, 1850. She had graduated in 1869 from Andrew College, Cuthbert, Georgia. The Florida McMillans were descendants of Gilbert and Christian McBryde McMillan of Campbelltown, Cantyre, Scotland, who moved to Robeson County, North Carolina, in 1770. (See Lumber River Scots, 1941, pp. 565-566.)

The first child, Cleveland Jay Harp, was born in Decatur County on 18 June, 1875. Within the year, they moved to the Garden Valley District of Macon County, where they purchased a 400-acre farm, which would be their family homeplace for the next 100 years. There, at "The Grove," the family home, W. D. Harp operated a cotton gin and a packing house for fresh vegetables. Born to the couple in Garden Valley were Adrianne Harp (1879), Elma Grey Harp (4 March, 1882), and William Dixon Harp, Jr. (20 April, 1888). In "Pictures from the Past," a series of reminiscent sketches written by Adrianne Harp Moore around 1957, the plantation home was described: "It met Edgar Guest's requirements with no perceptible effort. There were the giant oaks, where relics of Indian encampments intrigued the imagination; there were undaunted mulberry trees, reminiscent of the Old World-minded dreams of the English pioneers; there was the meandering stream with the 'swimming hole,' immortalized by James Whitcomb Riley, and destined, in a far distant day, to irrigate the revolutionized cotton fields. . . . "

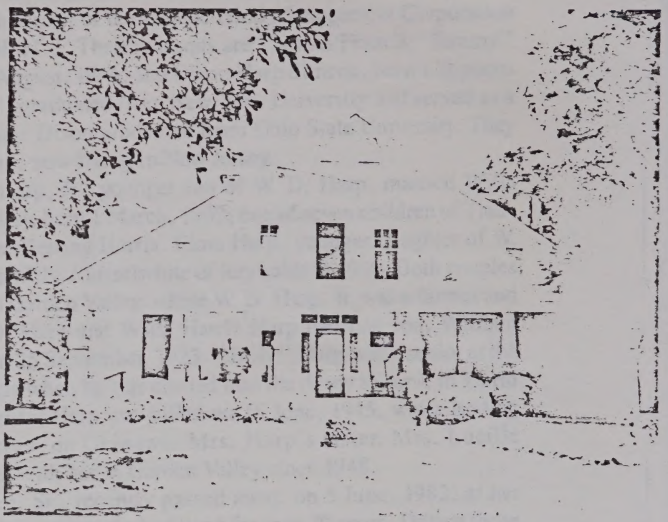
In 1901 Adrianne Harp married Jere M. Moore of Milledgeville, and they lived in Montezuma, where he was an attorney and judge. She served as county school superintendent. (See descendants of Jere M. Moore and Adrianne Harp Moore.)

On 22 December, 1909, Cleveland Jay Harp married Irene Matilda Saylor of Taylor County, youngest of eight children of Jacob John Saylor and Sarah Matilda Glover Saylor. Irene Saylor Harp was born 1 December,

THE GROVE

Home of the Cleveland Harp Family

Garden Valley



On January 1, 1877, William Dixon Harp of Crawford and Decatur Counties, purchased property in Macon County's 1st Land District from John Witchard of Terrell County. The south-facing plantation house which accompanied the purchase was a one-story wood frame structure which, together with a collection of outbuildings, sat in a large grove of oak trees, primarily live oak and water oak.

William Dixon and Mary Ann McMillan Harp raised their family of four children at The Grove: Cleveland Jay, 1875; Adrianne, 1879; Elma Gray, 1882; and William Dixon, Jr., 1888.

The house received an expansion in 1912 when a second floor was added, the detached plantation kitchen was brought into the house proper, and a columned porch and porte-cochere were added to the southern facade.

Cleveland Jay Harp brought Irene Saylor Harp to The Grove in 1909. Born there were: Virginia Saylor, 1917; Cleveland Jay, Jr., 1921; and Sara Elizabeth, 1923.

In 1944, Cleveland Jay Harp, Jr., married Anne Bacon. They lived at The Grove with their son, Cleveland Jay, III, 1946; a daughter, Patricia Anne was born in 1949.

Willam Dixon Harp, Jr., younger son of W. D. Harp, married Willa Harris of Garden Valley, born 1 March, 1902, one of seven children of Thurston Harris and Kate Kerring Harris. Elma Harp, younger daughter of W. D. Harp, Sr., married John Musselwhite of Reynolds in 1930. Both couples made their homes in Garden Valley, where W. D. Harp, Jr. was a farmer and businessman. W. D. Harp and Willa Harris Harp had one son, William Dixon Harp III, born 25 September, 1923. "Billy" Harp was a senior at the University of Georgia when he was drafted into the Army to serve in World War II. First Lieutenant Harp was killed on 15 June, 1945, while leading his company in action on Okinawa. Mrs. Harp's sister, Mrs. Lucille McKinney, has lived with her in Garden Valley since 1948.

Mrs. C. J. Harp, Sr., recently passed away, on 5 June, 1982, at her home in Garden Valley, where she had lived for over 70 years. During those decades she served as the ever cheerful and untiring hostess, with the assistance of two faithful and beloved family retainers, the sisters Dora Harp Council and Algia Harp Council. Her grace and the memory of her hospitable home will long be cherished.

The Harp Family

by Cleveland Jay Harp III
and Desmond Wright Harp II

The English ancestry of the Harp family is suggested in a transcription of the Book of Christenings of the Year 1539 (see Miscellanea Genealogica aldica, 2nd series, Vol. II, London, 1890, pp. 192-5). The first tates Census of 1790 lists Harps among the Heads of Families in k, Pennsylvania, Virginia and North Carolina.

Harps of Macon County are descendants of Dixon Harp (1763- d Celia Edmundson (1782-1851) of Upson County (see History of ounty, 1930). Born in North Carolina, Dixon Harp in 1800 married mundson of South Carolina. Dixon Harp participated in the Geor- l lottery of 1806 as a resident of Hancock County. He is recorded in Census as a resident of Baldwin County and in the 1830 Census dent of Upson County, where he was a farmer and a founding trustee umpkee Academy until his death at the age of 95. He and his wife e buried in the Thomaston Cemetery.

Upson County newspaper article of 1907 by William G. Horseley "Upson and the Baptist" recounts that "Dixon Harp was a rare r, for he was a farmer, raised 12 sons and daughters, had two plan- saved up a large trunk full of silver and gold and much paper money es, and many slaves. In that trunk he acquired all the tenpence and and coins ever paid to him and spent only the paper money. His as kept under his bed, where he and his wife slept, with a heavy, vie knife under his pillow." Once "one of his guests said, 'I can get oney without coming into your house.' 'How?' 'Get under your ith a two-inch augur, bore a hole through the floor and bottom of k, take all your silver and gold and give you no further trouble.' he trunk was pushed back, it was on sheet iron. . . . He died a "

ene Pinckney Harp (1807-1859), third son of Dixon Harp, was born ock County, June 18, 1807. On April 20, 1833, he married Martha Cleveland (1818-1859), b. Nov. 13, 1818, in Jasper County, the six children of William Cleveland and Rhoda Wright Cleveland. s sister, Lucinda, married Martha's brother, Absalom Carter Cleve- he Clevelands were descended from Alexander Cleveland I, of England, who came over with Lord Baltimore and settled in Prince County, Virginia around 1635, and whose brother, Moses Cleveland, who settled in Woburn, Mass., was the forbear of President Grover Cleveland. The first Cleveland ancestor recorded is Thorkil de Cleveland of North Riding, County York, now County Cleveland, England, whose son Uctred de Cleveland, was a Saxon landowner holding lands mentioned in the Doomsday Book of William the Conqueror in 1086 (Genealogy of the Cleveland Family, by E. J. Cleveland and H. G. Cleveland, 1899, Hartford CT, Vol III, and Elbert County History).

Greene Harp served in the Georgia mounted militia in the Creek Indian War of 1836. He and Martha were residents of Crawford County, where he had a plantation neighboring that of the Clevelands. Martha Harp's brother, Washington Cromwell Cleveland, was named for Oliver Cromwell, reputedly a Cleveland ancestor. Green and Martha Harp are buried in the Harp-Cleveland cemetery, located in the First Land District, Land Lot 132.

The first Harp in Macon County was Martin L. Harp, younger brother of Greene Pinckney Harp, who moved with his wife Sarah to the Grangerville District, near Buck Creek, in the 1850's. His sister, Celia Harp Howe, and family, moved nearby. Martin Harp was a member of the 1860 Grand Jury whose Presentments on the eve of the Civil War were recorded in the 1933 History of Macon County. Four of his sons served in the Confederate Army. The Harp and Howe families were members of the County Line Baptist church, where Martin's infant daughter Anna was buried. In the 1860's the Martin Harp family moved to Terrell County, and the W. J. Howe family moved to Atlanta, Texas.

Greene's sister, Lucinda Harp, and her husband, Col. A. C. Cleveland, moved near Martin Harp, in Schley County. Col. Cleveland, a prominent landowner and old Indian fighter, was murdered in 1854, and is buried in Schley County, now beside Georgia Highway 240. Their son, Green Harp Cleveland, and his wife, lived at Miona Springs before moving in 1883 to Mitchell County.

On New Year's Day, January 1, 1877, Greene Harp's eldest son, William Dixon Harp, and his younger brother, James Wright Harp, both veterans of the Confederate Army (see History of Macon County, p. 726), purchased property in Macon County's (First) 1st Land District, Garden Valley, from John Witchard of Terrell County. W. D. Harp, his wife Mary Ann McMillan Harp, and their baby son, Cleveland Jay Harp, had moved to Garden Valley in late 1875 or early 1876 from Decatur County. James Wright Harp and his bride, Amanda McMillan Kyle, neice of Mary Ann McMillan Harp, moved to Macon County in 1878 from Decatur County, and in 1882, purchased neighboring property in Hicks District. Their respective grandsons, Cleveland Jay Harp, Jr. and Desmond Wright Harp II, today own and operate these properties purchased a century ago.

Greene's third son, Alfred Eugene Harp, also a Confederate veteran, and his wife, Frances Meadows, moved to Macon County. They are buried in the Pleasant Grove Cemetery. Their four daughters lived in Montezuma. His great-grandson, James Harp Roberts, today manages Southern Cotton Oil Company in Oglethorpe, and lives in Byromville with his wife, Ann Robinson Harp.

Greene's youngest son, Green Jerome Harp, known as "Little Uncle", spent his latter years with James Wright Harp and family. He was buried in the Harp Family plot at Pleasant Grove Cemetery in Garden Valley.

J. W. HARP DIES in Macon County

One of Largest Land Owners' Buried at Reynolds

Montezuma, Ga., Aug.19-- Funeral services were conducted from the residence Thursday afternoon for J.W. Harp, 86, well-known citizen of Macon county, whose death occurred Wednesday night following a short illness at his home near Reynolds. Mr. Harp was a native of Crawford county and as a mere boy enlisted in the Confederate army, rendering distinguished service to the Confederacy. After the war he lived in Decatur county and came to Macon county in 1876. He had been successful in business and was one of the largest landowners in the county. For more than half a century he had been an influential factor in the development of this section of the state.

He was a son of the late Green Pinckney Harp and Martha Cleveland and a cousin of the late Judge T.J. Simmons, chief justice of the supreme court.

He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Amanda Kyle of Chattahoochee, Fla. His second wife was formerly Miss Amanda Bentley of Butler, who died two years ago. He was a life-long member of the Primitive Baptist church.

He is survived by two sons, D.W. Harp of Reynolds, and S.B. Harp of Oglethorpe; three daughters, Mrs. A.C. Blount of Chattahoochee, and Mrs. B.E. Flowers and Mrs. E.H. Joiner of Reynolds, and six grandchildren.

The services were conducted by Rev. John Woodward of Hawkinsville and Rev. Mr. Williams of Reynolds.

Interment was in Reynolds. The pallbearers were: Tom Pool, Otis Ogburn, Ricks Carson, Lewis Hicks, Walter Jones and J.W. Musslewhite. The honorary escort was composed of Dan Hicks, R.A. Hinton, Jere Moore, J.W. Whatley, C.J. Harp, John Childs, F.A. Ricks, David Murray, W.D. Harp, and R.S. West.

Washington Cromwell Cleveland, a son of William and M Rhoda (Seaggs) Cleveland, was born in Crawford County on May 1803. A widely known Baptist preacher and a distinguis member of the bar, he owned a large plantation near the villag Culloden. He represented Crawford County in the General Asse bly (1853-1854), and as a member of the great Secession Conv tion of 1861 he voted in favor of the Ordinance of Secession.* was one of the first commissioners of the noted LeVert Fem College at Talbotton.[5]

Washington Cleveland was three times a bridegroom, and as e of his wives was a widow at the time of his marriage to her, was father or step-father to a total of nineteen persons. He and three wives, together with several members of their families, a buried in the family cemetery on the W. C. Cleveland plantation near Culloden.

The Reverend Mr. Cleveland's first wife was Mrs. Edna (Armstrong) McClendon, to whom he was married on 9 November 1826 in Jasper County, Georgia. She was born on 13 September 1803, a daughter of William and Mary Armstrong, and died on 4 June 1841. By her previous marriage to Jonathan McClendon she was the mother of Elitha and Jonathan McClendon, Jr.

Cleveland House in Elbert County dating back to c1790

Project was underway in 1980 to document it & other structures threatened by Richard B. Russell Dam project (GA&SC) (water may cover Elbert County structures)

Photo - closeup of old door latch ripped from Cleveland House w/ 1917 burned into wood - possibly a birth or wedding date

National team recorded architectural, engineering, & historical information on various sites along dam project

In conjunction w/ US Army Corps of Eng, Savannah Dist & the Interagency Archeological Services (IAS), the Historic American Bldgs Survey (HABS)

12-wk project (in 1980) to document 21 architectural & engineering structures

All documentation placed in HABS collection of the Lib of Congress in Washington, DC

College students from across US selected as team members

HABS created in 1933 by Congress to record historical bldgs throughout nation - but mainly to employ architects during Depression

Survey temporarily terminated in late 1940s & reinstated in early 1950s.

1978 Heritage Conservation & Recreation Service (HCRS) created to tie together variety of programs designed to conserve America's cultural & natural resources

2 of these programs HABS & Historic American Engineering Record (HARE) merged

Stuart Hall

2 of projects historians, LeAnne Baird & her asst Marcie Robertson, discovered that land located along Savannah River (specifically Elberton) was once the place to live over Atlanta or Athens

Before people moved on to Atlanta & Athens, settled in Elberton first

The people "hung on to their rivers as long as possible. It was their only artery to civilization." (Robertson)

When boll weevil began to attack cotton & prices went from 40¢/lb to 5¢/lb, many farmers moved to other towns

* Greenville News Nov 8, 1987 by Randall Holcombe

James Smith (Fair Play, GA, fisherman) discovered remnants of burial ground on shores of Lake Hartwell - 9 rectangular indentations on rocky shore about 50 feet from normal shoreline - markings on ground had been revealed by low water level in the lake

Just across SC state line, on hill overlooking the SC welcome center, forgotten graves of 3 Rev War soldiers
Graves marked by 20th c headstones of "unknown origin"
Just 3 among more than 100 that Oconee County Historical Society claims were disturbed when SC 11 built
Known as Scenic Cherokee Foothills Trail, SC 11 originates 100 yds down a slope from the graves & winds toward Blue Ridge Mts - following path once used by Indians as a trading route
Tons of granite & dirt blasted & hauled away to make hwy's access ramp to I85
Albert Wood (79 in 1988) says he tried to warn hwy dept they were disturbing a cemetery when road was built, but warnings unheeded
Land once part of Franklin County, GA - belonged to Tugaloo River Baptist Church which stood nearby in early 19th c

Cleveland House in Article

Homeplace burned down c1982

Built by Wm Alexander whose daughter Mary m Reuben Cleveland, son of Jacob & Milly

Reuben buried in graveyard along w/ Jacob & Milly

Wm lived on Coldwater Creek - that runs by Wendell's home

Out of 200 acres, state let family keep 36 when Russell Dam Project going on.

House was eventually burned down by persons unknown despite Wendell's warnings & requests

House was to have been saved & restored as monument despite Russell Dam Project

* SC Wildlife July/Aug 1976
Cade & Wendell Cleveland (descendants of Jacob & Milly, Reuben & Mary Alexander C, Wm & Lucy Terrell C, Robt Wm & Mary Cassie James C, Isaac Cade C, Wendell C
Living on land endangered by Russell Dam project
Cade & son Wendell farm land on Savannah River near Elberton, GA
Much of it inundated & all taken if Trotters Shoals project completed
Cade had cleared a lot of the land w/ axe - no chain saws in early days
Were going to make museum out of old family home
House actually belonged to Cade's brother, but 2 officials from Atlanta demanded that Cade sign over the house & 3 acres or gov't would take it
Cade: "I reckon that dam is about the most destroyingest thing I ever heard of in the US of A."
Wendell: "They're talkin' 'bout parks. I told 'em to tell me why they're wantin' more parks when they closed down all those [in GA] last yr to save 'em some money. That's stupid to go spend money when they got all them parks already built. Why close 'em down & go spend money to build new ones?
Cade: They just want a job, that's all.
Wendell: But our job is animals & field crops;

Stuart Hall

That's all we've got. Just this farm."

* "A Story of Rage" by Steve Oney
The Atlanta Journal & Constitution Mag 18 Sep 1977
Cade slept w/ 3 rifles, a shotgun, & a pistol at his side
Newly poured concrete steps w/ "Welcome to the Clevelands. Stop the Dam!"
Long nights on couch where he (Cade) slept w/ guns waiting for someone to come & get him & take him off his farm
Russell B Russell Dam would inundate this area w/ 30,000-acre lake & much of Cleveland farm covered w/ water
What not used would be used as public park
Shortly after Jimmy Carter inaugurated, promised he would stop more than 20 US Army Corps of Eng water & dam projects by excluding them from his '77 budget
Russell Dam project not one of Corps projects he planned to halt though
Then he realized he had angered Congressmen who repay political debts by building dams & p.o.'s in their districts
So he decided to kill Russell Project in his home state as "sacrificial lamb"
Carter on record as opposing Army Corps of Eng "self-perpetuating projects," but when he saw that his token GA offering would not appease congressmen, he decided to withdraw his opposition to all previously shelved Corps projects

Russell Dam would be built
Wendell had fought dam for 5 yrs
Had protested at Corps-sponsored town mtgs
Tried to tell people what his farm meant to him - that he's an independent farmer who lives only for his land
Savannah River & the land "palpable spiritual forces to him, his daughter, his wife, his father, their long-dead kin."
Dam would force him to move elsewhere
Either forced to sell his property for price far below worth or would be ordered by Fed Court in Macon & by US Marshals to get off the land
House: 2-story plantation-plain style house w/ date 1791 cut into brick high in one of its chimneys
In 1800s & on back, most of the family died there
Family has "been on this land beyond the reach of their individual & collective memories.... The Cherokees were here before them. Unlike the Indians, the family has not yet been vanquished."
Farm is 400 acres of rolling, rugged land running from rocky foothills to deep, black river bottoms rich w/ deposited silt
On it 23 sheds, houses, lean-tos, shacks - all built by the family
Wood was cut in family mill
Tools shaped in family forge
Farm bottoms cleared by ax - fence posts dug by hand

Plumbing laid by hand

"The farm is a monument to the singular pain & occasional joy of the self-reliant, self-sufficient farmer.

Walnut, hickory, oak, ash, sweet gum, birch, maple, beech trees

Wendell: "Nobody knows the peace land like this will give to a man.

"Many a hog has been drug to that spring to be slaughtered. Many a tin of butter has been cooled there. I remember when Mama brought the scrub board down to wash there. And I remember before we had a well when we would tote the big, heavy buckets of drinking water up from the spring to the house.

"My granddaddy [Robert Wm Cleveland] made it so in his will that all my daddy's brother's farms met right in the center of that spring so that each of them would have a right to the water. You know how families can bicker. He wanted to make sure that they'd all get water."

"If I knowed I was gonna die tonight... I'd still fight it... It's so quiet & peaceful here. I just don't believe I could live in the city. I'd go wild."

"You take the youngins coming up today.... How they ever gonna know what a big, clean river is like? This one's gonna be gone. Where are they gonna see virgin timber like this? There's something more here than just our farm."

"How the Corps Buys the Land" Onoy (same mag)

Jim Ellis, real estate mgr for US Army Corps of Eng:

"Approximately 25 farm operations will be affected to some extent. Ten will be affected seriously. And of those 10, five will actually require relocations. The Clevelands are in the final five."

At least 3 yrs before Clevelands have to give up farm

Would have farm assessed & then offer Clevelands what he feels is the farm's real market value

Clevelands, though, adamant about not dealing w/Corps & face prospect of having their farm condemned

Corps has right of eminent domain & can go to the US Dist Court in Macon to get order of condemnation to force Cs to sell their farm for price set by judge

If family won't physically move off the farm, the Corps then has power to bring US Marshals to insure that job is done

In John Baskin's book New Burlington: The Life & Death of American Village Corps has had track record in dealing equitably w/ property owners.

Examples of Corps offering $400/acre for farmland when comparable land in surrounding area priced at $1000/acre.

My dear cousin: (Van Buren Cleveland) #16929

I guess you think I am a long chap. and perhaps you think right I am really ashamed of myself for not writing you before now. Please excuse me and I will do better in the future. I am more ashamed because I have treated a brother "who has been raised from darkness to light" with so much indifference when my obligation tells me to do differently. I have just read your last letter carfully and I promise you now that I will get all the information about the business matter you mention in it I possibly can and as early a date as possible. I made considerable enquiry when I first received it but could learn nothing definite and the thing passed somewhat out of my mind. I have had more work than

SEE CLEVELAND GENEALOGY p. 2203 V.3 MARTIN VAN CLEVELAND ?
HAVE NOT FOUND A VAN BUREN CLEVELAND ?

I could manage in my line of business ever since last August as you know my business is surveying. I have a younger brother now who is getting hold of the science very fast. Well, we have had some very cold weather here since Christmas - a regular blizzard the mercury got 4 or 5 degrees below at some places - I saw some extracts from Col Jaipur sympathising with us for being so cold - telling about the oranges in bloom - strawberries on the table &c. In a few days more I noticed you were cold - very cold. It rather gets a fellow that is accustomed to mild weather.

All of the fall oats are killed and the wheat is in a doubtful stand. I don't think I will have a half stand and I see but few fields that have anything like a good stand. Our wheat crop will certainly be very short.

We had fair crops of every thing we plant last-year except oats they were winter killed- corn and cotton were fine- but we had an unfavorable fall for gathering- corn rotted badly in the field- none of us hardly finished gathering cotton till in January of this year- Then the prices are so low that the cotton will not pay for the trouble and expense of making. I stop for dinner- Well I have just had a good dinner and along with it some splendid turnip salad. If we did have a blizzard.

You promised to send me some papers but never did it- or perhaps if you did the mails got a little cross and failed to bring them. I am going to send you some of our papers- and I expect after you read them you will like them so well that you will have to subscribe for them- when you do that you will then get all the news.

Where is that photograph you spoke of.

have you not a good one yet: I shall look for it — I send you one of mine along with this letter — Do you think I favor any of your family — We all favor each other here —

You have never seen our old county here it is a grand and good old state. We raise nearly every thing here but oranges in the way of fruits — This is a good fruit county. But we can raise near so many potatoes and wheat to the acre as you can — by manuring a little we can make a bale of cotton to the acre in many places — Oats have gone back on us for two or three years — the cold winters have killed them out: "

When you travail towards the east in search of — " call and see your cousin

James Alfred Cleveland was born in the Harmony community of Elbert County near Brewers Mill. He told many stories of his boyhood in and around the old mill, how he fished, hunted and all the other things a young boy of his day and time did to pass the time. One of his favorite stories was when and how he received his first rifle. He paticularly put the emphasis on it being an "Octogen Barren 22 rifle", given to him by an old friend of the family. He also told a stroy of how he lost his thumb in later life while working at a shingle mill. As a man he was a person of many interests, a school teacher, Justice of Peace, Farmer, owner and operator of a cotton gin and most of all a devoted husband and father.

The stowy of his experiment with water power comes to mind at this time. As the story goes it seems he decided to build a dam across a small stream approximately one forth mile from his home, and install a water wheel. The water wheel was to generate power to operate feed cutter or corn sheller or what ever he might decide to operate. He run a small wire over small pullies from the water wheel to his home where he connected to the implements he wanted to use. This small wire acted as a belt, or belt drive for these implements. Everyone around the neighborhood made fun of him and had a big laugh in general, but he had the last laugh when his "contraption"actually worked. No doubt this wire belt drive that he contrived was the fore runner of the modern wire saw used to cut stone in nearly all granite companies across the United States today.

Another incident that happened many years before the water wheel stroy, prehaps a few years after his marriage, was when he was operating a saw mill on the same small stream but further away. The mill was operated by steam power and it seems the boiler that generated steam blew up, much to his surprise he found himself "sprawled" quite a distance away after the explosion but as far as known unhurt.

Fightin' Mad

The Cleveland Family Has Farmed on This Land For More Than 150 Years—They Don't Intend To Give It Up to the Corps Without a Battle

By CHARLES SALTER
Journal State Editor

RUCKERSVILLE, Ga. — Windell Cleveland never has read "Gone With the Wind," but he and Tara owner Gerald O'Hara share the same feeling—a great love for the land.

Cleveland, 36, has heard his father Cade, 79, say the same thing about Georgia soil that O'Hara told his daughter Scarlet.

Land is something very precious that the Lord has provided for man to use with care, no more is being made on this earth and you should never let go of the soil you own, the old man in Elbert County believes.

Windell and Cade Cleveland fervently hope and pray that they will live the rest of their days on the farm that has been in their family more than 150 years.

In recent months they have attended public meetings, written letters to President Carter and members of Congress and contacted many Georgians to express strong opposition to the Richard B. Russell Dam and lake that would swallow the Cleveland farm.

They were overjoyed to learn that Carter will not seek funds in his 1978 budget for the Russell Dam. And the Clevelands believe there's a good chance Congress will support Carter.

Windell Cleveland knelt and picked up a handful of soil in a freshly planted corn field on his farm about 400 yards from the Savannah River and 12 miles east of Elberton.

"This bottom land in here—I don't care where you go," he said, letting the soil sprinkle between his fingers, "you won't find richer land in the state of Georgia or no where else.

"This is some of the richest in the world. Eight acres here I planted in corn. I wish you'd seen the corn that come off this river bottom land last year."

Each spring he plants a variety of vegetables on his 152-acre tract and five other farms that he rents.

Although President Carter has decided to scrap the Russell Dam because of environmental concerns, uprooting of 60 families and other factors, the Corps of Engineers is continuing construction on the project and still acquiring tracts of land with its funds from 1977's budget.

The Clevelands—Windell; his wife, Charlene; daughter, Audry, 13, and father, Cade—are determined to keep their farm. A Corps official told Windell that much of the farm would be covered by the 26,000-acre lake, and the rest would be used for recreational areas.

Cade Cleveland keeps three loaded shotguns and a .32-caliber revolver "for them rogues, thieves and Corps of Engineers," and he vows that nobody is going to handcuff him in his house and force him off the farm.

The old man strongly hopes that he won't ever have to fire a gun in anger, but if anyone attempts to drive him off the land, "I figure I'll take one or two with me."

Windell said that Corps Project Manager Jim Ellis of Elberton advised him that if a landowner refused to leave after condemnation of a farm, federal marshals would be ordered to move the people away.

"I looked him straight in the eye and said, 'You know that thing could work a heap of ways besides one . . . when you go to puttin' somebody out of his house," said Windell.

Windell, his wife and daughter reside in mobile homes on a hill a short distance from his father's 50-year-old house.

On a tour of the farm, Windell pointed out the two-story, wooden house in which his father was born. Scratched on a brick in one of the two chimneys is the year "1741," indicating that white settlers traveled up the river eight years after Gen. James Oglethorpe established the Georgia colony at Savannah.

The nearby Ruckersville community was settled by John Rucker and John White, who moved to Georgia in 1773 from Virginia.

Windell Cleveland feels that loss of his farm to the Corps of Engineers would be as painful as death.

"It's not takin' your life, but, in other words, it's the same as takin' your life—takin' something you worked for years to build up," he said.

"Then some guys come along sayin' you got to move out. My daddy cleared this land with an ax, long before the chainsaws came along."

He drove a Jeep past some 22 old houses, barns, sheds and outbuildings used to store farm equipment and hay, then showed field after field that he plowed and planted this spring.

"I worked hard on this place over the years, day and night," he said. "I love to see stuff grow. I love to see hogs and cows grow. And, I've got as pretty a bunch of goats as you ever saw.

"If they come and take what we've got and everything . . . I'm out," he said, staring across a field where watermelons will grow this summer. "I don't know of nothin' I could do. Farmin' is all I know. It's somethin' I've done since I got out of high school in '59—and before then."

A supporter of the Russell Dam has said the forest on both sides of the Savannah River is home of very little wildlife.

Numerous times as we walked or rode slowly across the farm and over the river bottomlands, Windell stopped and pointed out tracks of wild turkeys and deer.

He could hardly believe his ears when a proponent of the dam said at a public hearing that a deer swimming in this part of the Savannah River would have to pack its lunch.

"People don't realize what's out on this river," said Windell. "They don't know what the dam and lake's gonna destroy. "There's lots of wildlife—deer, turkeys, coons, possum, squirrels, bobcats, fox. . . .

"I believe there's over $800,000 worth of timber, if the dam is built, that they'll lose in South Carolina. There's some of the finest timber up and down the river. It grows fast, and it grows big and tall."

WINDELL CLEVELAND BESIDE HOUSE WITH 1741 DATE ON CHIMNEY
Corps Says It Would Protect House as Historic Site If Lake Is Built

Windell's father said, "And, there'll never be any more of that if this dam is built."

The old man said the lake would back right up to his little fish pond, where he catches catfish every spring and summer.

"I wouldn't take $10,000 for my fish pond if somebody laid it down in my hand," he declared.

Windell believes supporters of the dam have a weak argument in saying the reservoir would provide a large amount of hydroelectric power sorely needed in this area.

"The Hartwell dam up here . . . ," he said, "they don't run it (release water to generate power) but four to six hours a day. Back yonder when we was havin' cold weather, they was hollerin' shortage of power.

"I watched that river. They run it an average of six hours. In the summertime, they don't run it but two and a half hours. Since the meetin' (a recent public hearing in Anderson, S.C.) when I got up and told 'em the way they operated it, you know, them jokers have been turnin' water through on Saturday and Sunday for two weekends. That's how 'low-down' they are."

In addition to the 26,000 acres that the reservoir would cover, the Corps is trying to buy another 33,000 acres of land that would be used for access roads, boat launching areas, parking lots, and recreational areas.

"Land is precious," said Windell. "I tell you, people don't realize what it means. That's a heap of land out of use. No more good.

"They know them kind of power plants don't make much power. If they want power, why don't they build a steam plant with a small lake.

"I tell you, the Corps of Engineers wants a big job, and they done went too far. You puttin' one dam in use, and you're destroyin' wildlife, timber and our farmin'. We don't need that dam."

The Corps estimates the dam and lake would cost $248 million plus another $75 million for pumped storage facilities. So far it has spent nearly $21 million on the project.

President Carter decided against requesting $21 million for the Russell Dam in his 1978 budget.

Windell and Cade Cleveland hope Congress never provides another dime for the dam. And, they'd like to see the Corps tear down what crews already have built at the dam site.

A Story of Rage

As construction on the Richard Russell Dam continues, Cade and Windell Cleveland watch. And wait.

By Steve Oney

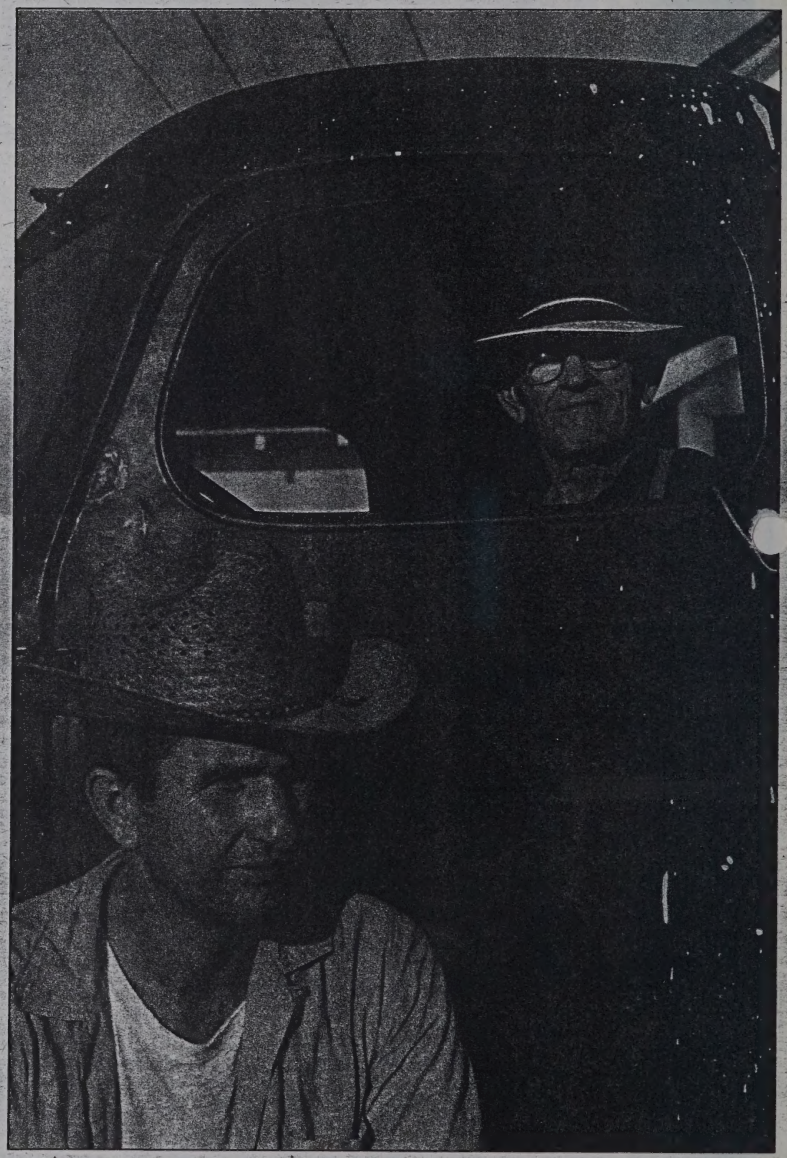
ALWAYS, there had been the river; there had been the farm. When they were told that the farm and the river would perish, they knew it could not be true.

Friday was no different from any other weekday. When Windell Cleveland drove back to the house in the International, he heard his daddy, Cade, cussing behind the chinaberry trees.

The ax was still out. Blood covered the blade where it rested on a slab of concrete. Feathers clung to a low oak stump stained with the russet, gory patina of 50 years. The broiler had not been dead long. Cade was standing over the concrete slab, gutting the bird with a pocket knife. When he finally noticed that his son had come around, he cussed again. "Windell, that damn tomcat jumped right up here and I'm gonna kill him if he does it again." Windell nodded and rubbed the flat of his right hand lightly across the sun-dyed fabric of his shirt where it bloused out around his stomach. The shirt was still blue in the creases. They were both standing under the chinaberry trees now. The leaves were blinding green. Cade pulled the knife up the bird's belly once more. It made a zipper sound. The bright guts spilled into his hands, and he dumped them into a steaming vat. Flies and yellow jackets were diving into the cauldron.

It was early, not much past 8 a.m., but by the manner in which the low cumulus clouds were coming down from the South Carolina side of the Savannah, you knew that the day was going to be hot, that its inevitable conclusion would be a violent gathering up of heat and wind and water and lightning. "It rained two nights ago," Windell said. He had walked around to the front of his daddy's place. He was kicking his muddy black brogans against the front porch steps. The steps lead to the tidy white frame house where Cade has lived almost longer than his memory goes back. They are made of newly poured concrete. Etched into them are the words: "Welcome to the Clevelands. Stop the Dam!"

"I was mighty proud of that rain," Windell said. He walked into the house, past two dusty, dank pump organs, past the cardboard boxes Cade is using as incubators for his baby guineas, past the ratty couch where Cade sleeps with three rifles, a shotgun and a pistol at his side, into the kitchen



Windell and Cade Cleveland and the 1949 International Harvester pickup that the two of them have kept going for 28 years. Staff photos by Billy Winburn.

Cade was now standing. The chicken had been cut into parts and placed in a clean, stainless steel bowl.

Cade was shaking his head; the motion was almost imperceptible. It is his characteristic, as much a part of him as are his Army fatigue pants and his long-sleeved work shirt with the collar pulled up high around his neck, obscuring his neck, making the tottering of his head seem detached. He was holding a soft, cardboard package of G.E. lightbulbs destined for his incubators.

It had been a hard year: There were the long nights on the couch where he slept with his guns waiting for them to come and get him and take him off his farm; there was a time when he had been sick and had lost as much blood internally as a man can lose and still live. But in the spring, he had rallied, gained weight. And now as he entered his 81st summer on the farm, he felt strong. He had decided to raise guineas and turkeys in what might be called a spirit of renewal.

His one good eye blinked behind his heavy-lensed glasses and he said, "If he stops it, he'll be the best President there ever was, and if he doesn't, he'll be the sorriest and I'd tell him that to his face if he was here."

And then Cade Cleveland was out the back door and into the 1949 International, a fine, hard-riding black pickup truck that has no headlights and stares you in the face head on, like a blind man. He was going out to check the several steel traps that had been set near the road leading into the farm. At night, the bobcats and foxes that have been driven into this last 29-mile stretch where the Savannah runs free above Augusta raid the Cleveland's livestock. If the Richard B. Russell Dam is built, this final, free-flowing span of the Savannah will be inundated by a 30,000-acre lake. Much of the Cleveland's farm will be covered with water. What is not will be used as a public park.

THROUGH the winter, the spring and the summer, the story has continued to change. And all the while, Cade and Windell Cleveland have watched with intense, almost morbid, fascination; fear and anger. They have been like Job, waiting to see what trials God — in this case, Jimmy Carter — would force them to endure next.

Shortly after Carter was inaugurated as President, he promised he would stop more than a score of U.S. Army Corps of Engineers water and dam projects by excluding them from his 1977 budget. The Richard B. Russell Dam was not one of the Corps projects Carter planned to halt. Carter soon sensed that he had angered the kind of congressmen who regularly repay political debts by building dams and post offices in their home districts. Carter's critics believe he then decided to kill funding for the Russell project to offer a sacrificial lamb in his own state. Carter has long been on record as opposing the Army Corps of Engineers' self-perpetuating projects, but when he saw that even the Georgia offering would not appease the congressmen, he had afterthoughts. He decided that most of the Corps projects he had originally opposed should go on. The Russell Dam would be built.

At first, the Clevelands had thought Carter would offer salvation for their farm. Windell had fought the Russell Dam alone for too long. For more than five years. There had been too many nights in tiny, rural gymnasiums at Corps-sponsored town meetings where he had protested against the Afternoon clouds rolling in over the Cleveland's farm.

How the Corps buys the land

"APPROXIMATELY 25 farm operations will be affected to some extent. Ten will be affected seriously. And of those 10, five will actually require relocations. The Clevelands are in the final five."

This comes from Jim Ellis, real estate manager for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Richard Russell Project. Ellis, headquartered in Elberton, is charged with surveying, mapping and buying property for the 30,000-acre Richard Russell Reservoir and its surrounding 20,000-acre recreation area. For the next five years he will have the task of buying land from people who don't want to sell.

What he means in the above figures is that 25 farmers will have to sell at least some of their land to the Corps to make way for the reservoir. Of those 25, 10 will have to sell most of their land to the Corps, and of those 10, five will have to give up their farms and their farmhouses altogether. Eighteen of the farms are in Georgia; seven are in South Carolina.

Ellis believes it will be at least three years before the Clevelands have to give up their farm. Initially, Ellis will have their farm assessed and he will offer to pay the Clevelands what he feels is the farm's real market value.

The Clevelands, though, are adamant about not dealing with the Corps, and they likely face the prospect of having their farm condemned. The Corps has the right of eminent domain, and can go to the U.S. District Court in Macon to get an order of condemnation to force the Clevelands to sell their farm for a price set by a judge. If the family won't physically move off the farm, the Corps then has the power to bring in U.S. marshals to insure that the job is done.

"That rarely happens," says Ellis.

As cited in John Baskin's book, "New Burlington: The Life and Death of an American Village," the Corps has a bad track record in dealing equitably with property owners.

New Burlington, until the mid-1960s, was a town of 400 people in southwest Ohio. The Corps took the entire town to make way for the reservoir waters from the Ceasar Creek Dam. Many of the town's elderly inhabitants died during the years that the Corps quite literally had the town under seige. Baskin asserts they died in part because of the shock of being told that their lifelong homes were going to be inundated.

Baskin cites examples of the Corps offering to pay only $400 per acre for farmland when in surrounding areas comparable land was priced at $1,000 per acre.

The Clevelands say that under no circumstances will they sell their farm. When asked, "What if you have no other choice?" Windell Cleveland will simply stutter.

Ellis says the possibility of getting U.S. marshals to move the family is slight. "We don't even like to think about that procedure. It will be the absolute last resort."

In the Clevelands' case, nevertheless, it is a possibility.

About 13 miles from Elberton, the Cleveland's farm is midway between Athens and Anderson, S.C.

dam. He had tried to tell people what his farm means to him. That he is an independent farmer. That he lives only for his farm. That the Savannah River and the land are palpable spiritual forces to him, his daughter, his wife, his father, their long-dead kin. Windell knew the stakes too well. If the dam were built, he would be forced to move his family elsewhere. Either he would be forced to sell his property for a price far below its worth or he would be ordered by the Federal Court in Macon and by U.S. Marshals to get off the land. Carter, he thought, would be his ally.

Windell, whose political curiosity is usually satisfied by peculiar sheriff's races that regularly entertain northeast Georgia, became ardently caught up in Carter's Presidential campaign. He stayed awake the entire night of Nov. 2 waiting for the election results. When he went to bed knowing that Carter had won, it was with a sense of relief. The relief was only temporary. In the end, Carter would fail Windell Cleveland.

WINDELL had come around to the front of his daddy's place. Behind him was the white clapboard home, the sheds for the trucks and tractors, the gas pump recently changed to Shell from Gulf because the Elbert County Gulf wholesaler was for the dam. And several hundred yards farther back was the Savannah.

He watched the International wind down the dirt lane that connects the farm first with a county-maintained gravel and dirt road and then with 11 miles of isolated state highway and finally with Elberton, "The Granite Capital of the World." The insular home of more than 30 granite quarries squatting on a mother lode of the gray-blue stone.

Dust was settling in front of him: about the deep fishing pond stocked with bass and catfish; on okra fields and pig parlors; on the double-wide trailer where Windell, his wife and daughter live; on the other dirt lane which forks back into the farm. It leads by the abandoned house where Cade was born. It is a two-story plantation-plain style house with the date 1791 cut into a brick high in one of its chimneys. In the 1860s and on back, most of the family was sired there. On back, none of the Clevelands know how far that is. They only know that they have been on this land beyond the reach of their individual and collective memories; that late in the 18th century, the family came here from Virginia. They have not moved since. The Cherokees were here before them. Unlike the Indians, the family has not yet been vanquished.

In all, the farm is 400 acres of rolling, rugged land. It runs from rocky foothills to deep, black river bottoms rich with deposited silt. On it stand 23 sheds, houses, lean-tos, shacks — all built by the family. The wood was cut in the family mill. The tools were shaped in the family forge. The farm bottoms were cleared by ax before anyone knew of electric blade. The fence post holes were dug by hand. wells were dug by hand. The plumbing was laid by hand. The farm is a monument to the singular pain and occasional joy of the self-reliant, self-sufficient farmer.

Windell walked toward the fish pond. Near it, he saw two nannies — one brown, one black and white — and a flock of mallards and wood ducks and scobby whites. He was saying, "Daddy's got to check those traps. There are times when we catch six or seven bobcats in here in a month. We got one in a cage at the house now. If he got out, he'd kill every turkey and hen on the place before he ate a one of them. Them's mean suckers."

He ran his meaty right hand, square and hard, over his forehead, brushing away the sweat that had beaded up under his straw hat. Then he pushed his hand gently into the right front pocket of his fatigues. There, he fingered the pistol that rode like a tumor on his leg. "People think we're mean suckers ourselves." He spat. "Nobody bothers us down here, and we don't bother nobody unless they come in here without no good business and then we get them out. We got a good place. It might not suit another people, but it suits us damn fine. I'm 36 years old, and I've never had a paying job in my life. This place is all I want. I'll do what I have to do to keep it."

Cade was driving back up the dirt road. The lampless black-and-chrome grill of the International glinted in the morning sun. The driver's door swung loose where it was coming off its hinges. "There's a good story about that truck," Windell said as he turned to meet it. "Ten years ago, daddy lost one of his eyes pounding a nail . . . building one of our hog parlors. The sucker ricocheted right clean through his eyeball, and the doctors down in Augusta had to take the eye out. And then he got a cataract in the othern, and I'll swear he got so he was teetotally buck blind. He got so he couldn't see to get in the house. That's the reason the lights are all busted out of the truck. He never drove it on the road, but he drove it around here and he got to hittin' things and punched the lights out."

The International slowed, and Windell pulled himself up into the cab and the truck was off again, down the other lane. On for a mile through the dappling shade of tall pines. Through a pasture and into a field littered with hundreds of squealing guineas, chickens and turkeys.

Cade dismounted, a double-barrel shotgun slung over his right shoulder. Yak, a yellow and white mutt dog leashed to a pully and line strung between sheds, barked eagerly. The dog is there to discourage bobcats and foxes. Windell left his daddy with a sack of feed and walked on down a leaf-covered, root-entangled bank toward the bottom land along the river. It was cool under the trees. Walnut, hickory, oak, ash, sweet gum, birch, maple, beech. In spite of the Hartwell Dam upstream and the Clark Hill Dam downstream, the quiet, broad Savannah is still a river that is magnificent in its 200-yard ...wide soil. Cade remembers the regularly took a bateau across the river to the South Carolina side to pick up the migrant blacks who worked the farm for 50 cents a day. He remembers taking his car on a ferry to Iva, S.C., to court his wife. He remembers the stories his daddy told him about the big, raw black men with blisters on their hands and festering sores on their backs who polled barges up from Savannah in the 1850s all the way to Elbert County to haul bales of cotton back to the seaport.

"LOOK at that beech tree," Windell said, now down among the trees. He had picked up a stick, and he used it as a pointer. "You never see a beech hit by lightning. It's an old Cherokee belief. And Daddy and I have watched and with all the trees that get hit by lightning on a big place like this, we've never seen a beech hit. That's something a lot of people don't know." A long, sweet blade of grass hung from Windell's teeth.

"Nobody knows the peace land like this will give to a man." He was leaning against a sourwood, and he turned around in a neat little circle with his back still to the tree. He leveled the stick toward a gentle spring bubbling out of a mulch of leaves.

"Many a hog has been drug to that spring to be slaughtered. Many a tin of butter has been cooled there. I remember when Mama brought the scrub board down to wash there. And I remember before we had a well when we would tote the big, heavy buckets of drinking water up from the spring to the house.

"My granddaddy made it so in his will that all my daddy's brother's farms met right in the center of that spring so that each of them would have a right to the water. You know how families can bicker. He wanted to make sure that they'd all get water."

Windell walked slowly back up from the bank, away from the spring and the blue string of the Savannah. He bent over and grabbed a handful of rotten buckeyes from the ground. "If I knowed I was gonna die tonight . . . I'd still fight it. . . . It's so quiet and peaceful here. I just don't believe I could live in a city. I'd go wild.

"You take the youngins coming up today. . . . How they ever gonna know what a big, clean river is like? This one's gonna be gone. Where they gonna see virgin timber like this? There's something more here than just our farm."

Later, Windell joined back up with his daddy, and they finished watering and feeding the guineas. Then, they drove back to the house where Cade began cooking fresh blackeyed peas, corn, potatoes and the chicken for dinner.

June bugs and July flies were buzzing in the trees. Windell had fallen into a white metal chair next to the concrete slaughtering slab. He was looking at the chinaberry trees.

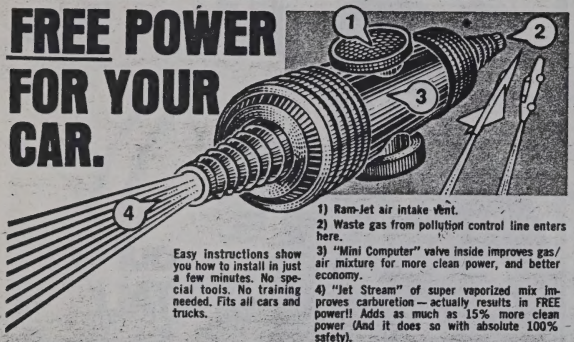
...vernment Awards The Ram-Jet Supercharger Patent No. 3118435. And other patents pending.

...Jet Supercharger is a great new weapon in America's war on high fuel costs — and the sluggish ...rmance you get because of government mandated pollution control devices. It combines the best of ...omotive and aviation air induction principles. (Yet it's so brilliantly simple to install, any 12 year old can do it in a few minutes) . . . So do not confuse the RAM-JET with all the many auto-gimmicks you see advertised that have no patent and serve no real purpose.

NOW! New Ram-Jet Supercharger TURNS POLLUTION INTO FREE POWER FOR YOUR CAR.



1) Ram-Jet air intake vent.
2) Waste gas from pollution control line enters here.
3) "Mini Computer" valve inside improves gas/air mixture for more clean power, and better economy.
4) "Jet Stream" of super vaporized mix improves carburetion — actually results in FREE power!! Adds as much as 15% more clean power (And it does so with absolute 100% safety).

Easy instructions show you how to install in just a few minutes. No special tools. No training needed. Fits all cars and trucks.

The Ram-Jet is virtually indestructible — made of a fantastic DuPont space-age material. It never needs replacing. Is guaranteed for at least 100,000 miles.

(Can give you up to 50 extra miles for every tankfull)*

New Ram-Jet Actually "Jet Assists" Your Car Engine...Makes It Burn Up To 15 Gallons Of Air For Every Gallon Of Gas... And Gives You As Much As 15% More Clean Power! Jet Like Acceleration!

NOW WITH GOVERNMENT INSISTENCE ON POLLUTION CONTROL DEVICES, THE WASTE IN POWER AND GASOLINE IS EVEN GREATER THAN EVER. BECAUSE THE BLOW-BY POLLUTION THAT USED TO BE RELEASED INTO THE AIR IS NOW FED BACK INTO YOUR ENGINE.

If you've ever wondered why the newer cars seem to have even less power than the older ones, well now you know. Today, you can pay as much as $10,000 or $20,000 (or even more) for a new car and still find it lacks real oomph when you need it, hesitating and even stalling out on you frequently.

Now, at last, the Ram-Jet to the rescue!
It solves both problems at once.

It brings your 50-year-old-carburetor design into the Jet Age.

1) It works like a "mini-computer" to automatically adjust the air/gas mixture to your every driving need. It thus steps up gas molecularization . . . reducing the over-rich mixture before it becomes wasteful. Just as a jet engine sucks air into it . . . the Ram-Jet automatically and safely jets air into the gas mixture the very split second your driving conditions require it.

2) It captures the polluted air that would ordinarily be fed back into your engine . . . and re-energizes it into a "Jet Stream" that is once again ignited into useful clean power instead of clogging up your engine and making it hesitate and stall and waste gasoline and power.

GREATEST GUARANTEE IN AUTOMOTIVE HISTORY: THE 100,000 MILE 100% MONEY BACK GUARANTEE. Anytime within the next 100,000 miles you put on your car, if you don't think the Ram-Jet Supercharger is the best automotive investment you've ever made, simply return it to us for a full money back refund. No questions asked. (And don't forget — with the Ram-Jet turning pollution into free power instead of turning it back into your engine, it's no telling how many extra power-packed miles you'll be able to log on your engine before its ready for the junk heap).

THOUSANDS OF SIMILAR DEVICES SOLD IN EUROPE FOR MORE THAN $20 A PIECE. THE RAM-JET SUPERCHARGER IS NOW AVAILABLE TO YOU FOR JUST $12.95. BECAUSE OF A SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT, IT COMES TO YOU DIRECT (NO MIDDLEMEN) FROM THE INVENTOR / MANUFACTURER HIMSELF, MR. ED ALMQUIST.

WHAT DO PEOPLE SAY ABOUT THE RAM-JET SUPERCHARGER? WE GET LETTERS LIKE THESE EVERY DAY.

An airline pilot writes: "Suddenly my little six cylinder engine seems to have the power of an eight. Yet it saves gas like it was a four. That little Ram-Jet is amazing!" — Phillip Shade, Plymouth, Connecticut

"I have a Ram-Jet. And so do many of my parishioners. We found out that we average from 2 to 6 more miles per gallon with much more engine pep and acceleration."— The Rev. P. Mick Harvey, Illinois and something in them urged him to remember his mother. She had died seven years earlier.

"Your MINI-SUPERCHARGER sure works for me! I drive a Rambler with 100,260 miles on it and the best mileage I could ever get was 19 M.P.G. Now, after installing your MINI-SUPERCHARGER I get 25 M.P.G. from it as well as peppier performance."—Sincerely, W.R.

Rage

"She was as good as gold. She'd have pots of flowers built up all around them chinaberry trees, round the front yard and out to the electric poles. She loved them flowers. And she worked in the fields, got up a lot of mornings at four to do the wash, and then she'd cook breakfast for us.

"After I got bigger, I tried to get her to stay in the house, but she loved these fields. Loved this old red clay." He pulled a knife across the bottom of his brogans, scraping off a peel of the red dirt. "It will stick to you, but it will grow stuff. And she sure loved it." He pulled his hat off and walked into the kitchen.

Always, the days had been like this: work, solitude, work, memory, the farm, the river. Now, the fear of the Russell Dam has enveloped them and has become a part of it too.

IT was that hour after dinner when country people gather under shade trees to swap stories, tell lies.

Cade was sitting on a kitchen chair by the back porch, a hybrid yellow-meat watermelon resting between his legs. Windell perched on a stool across from him. Cade's face was wrinkled up like the skin of a dried apple. He was remembering the river, the farm.

"It used to be that I'd trap a lot of beaver down on that river. I carried the hides up to the post office. I brought a whole passel of hides up there one day and one of the boys said, 'You better get out of here with those hides.' Old Man Luther Turner said that. And I said I wouldn't do nothing of the sort, and he said there was a new law that said you couldn't trap beaver, and I said, 'Let 'em try to make me follow it.' Laws ruint everything."

"You can't get shed of beavers today," Windell said. "They're a real problem."

"I'll tell you what you can't get shed of, it's those two-faced, suck-egg dogs that's for the dam," Cade interrupted. His head bobbed rapidly. "Like Doug Barnard, that Congressman down in Augusta. He's the two-facedest non-colored man to hit Augusta yet. He came up here one day telling us how he'd fight the dam and then he came out in the newspapers that he's all for it. Same with old Herman Talmadge. His daddy had a little sense. Old Herman . . . I don't see how he can be for it." Cade smiled, but there was no humor in it.

"All these people in Atlanta and Augusta, living in little places no bigger than honeycombs. They're sick. And crazy as bees. I would be too. They don't understand what a farm means to a person. They don't know what hoeing, picking 'taters, gathering 'maters and beans and onions—don't know what it means to a man," Windell scoffed. He began paring his nails with a rusty pocket knife.

"These Corps of Engineers don't want nothing but a job. But what they need is a bullet right here," Cade said. He pointed his finger to his temple. "They don't come back here because that's what they'll get from me."

"There are some folks down the river a ways and the Corps people say they have to be off their farm in December," Windell said. He spat.

Cade slapped the palm of his hand onto the rind of the melon. "I'd rather die by gun than get sick and old with bloody cancer, and I guarantee you if they came out here to take me off the place, it might come to that . . . . I'd take a few of them with me, though." He smiled again. This time, there was humor in it.

"That Carter let me down. It's the stupidest thing in the world he's doing for America," Windell said angrily. "Young people see him swapping his position on the dam so he can get some of his other bills passed. I reckon that's a terrible example to set."

"You couldn't get a thousand men to sway my mind if I had it made up," Cade added. He stuck out his jaw, showing a toothless lower gum.

"I'll tell you the only thing this can be compared to is suicide. If the Corps kicks us off, it'll be like suicide. Just as good as me killing myself," Windell said. He snapped down the blade of his knife and stood up. He spat again.

THE clouds were gathering thickly. It was late afternoon. Windell had bottle-fed his daughter's pet deer, slopped the hogs, spent an hour picking okra and had checked his corn fields on the bottom land. He had noticed the deep impressions in the tall grass by the old home place where deer had recently slept under wild apple trees. Noticed their sharp, two-toed hoof prints in the red clay.

The smell of rain was in the air. Windell and Cade had driven to the family cemetery, a lush, forest-hidden plot of land near the river. It had been several hours since they talked, but the subject was the same.

"People in our government think they can do anything they want, and they can because nobody will stand up and fight. We're gonna fight," Windell said.

The two men were looking down at a brick sepulcher. Its walls had caved inward.

"That dam," Cade said, "is the most destroyingist thing in the whole U.S.A."

They were standing in the cool damp air of the cemetery. The names of the dead had eroded from many of the stones that marked the final resting places. On back, these were the people who farmed the land. On back.

Rain began to fall.

The next day the headline on the front page of the local newspaper read: "Carter to sign bill; Russell Dam to be built." Cade and Windell Cleveland did not believe it. Always, there had been the river; there had

SC Wildlife July/August 1976

Cade and Wendell Cleveland

Cade Cleveland and his son, Wendell, farm their land on the Savannah River near Elberton, Georgia. Much of it will be inundated, and all of it taken, if the Trotters Shoals project is completed.

Cade: Wendell's got about 50, 60 cows in the pasture. It's going to destroy all of that. Ain't no sense in it, but nobody's lookin' for sense. Been here nearly 79 years, 22nd day of June. Wendell was born here, too.

Wendell: I never done nothing else but just what you see me doing this morning — right here, for 35 years. It's all we know.

Cade: Some of this land's right on the river. I cleared up all these bottoms with an axe. No chain saws then, nothing but axes. Cleared the land this house is on myself.

My folks lived in the old house down yonder. Reckon it's 250 years old. They gonna keep that, and make a — what, Wendell? — a museum out of it.

One of those engineers come by to talk about it; wanted to shake hands with me. I wouldn't even fool with him. I said, "If you keep that durned old house down there," I says, "this one's gonna stay here. I'm gonna die with it, or I'm gonna give some lawyers a lot of good money." They don't know what it is to make your first crop with your father and then see your own son work the same land. Can they put that in a museum?

Wendell: There was two guys here from Atlanta last Friday. They wanted to mark the old house exactly on their map. 'Course it's got brick siding on it now, put on 15 or 20 years ago, and now they're gonna come back and redo it as it originally was one time. They want it and three acres of land.

Cade: That house belongs to my brother, but they told me if I didn't sign it away to them, they's gonna take it in 30 days. I ain't got nothin' to do with it, and they's just gonna take it. I grew up there, you know.

Wendell: Maybe it's a good thing about them keepin the old house, down low and we're up high here. Maybe we can take 'em to law on that. And see, we got four more places rented over on the river and back on the creek.

Cade: We've had 'em rented for 26 years.

Wendell: Got big bottoms down on the creek over on Mr. Gulley's place. Now if they buy that, all that time and effort I put in (one place I fenced, worked about four days puttin' in posts, redoin' part of it), I won't get nothin' for it. I'm gonna lose all that. I've tried to show 'em how much it's gonna hurt.

Cade: They don't care nothin' 'bout that. I reckon that dam is about the most destroyingest thing I ever heard of in the U.S. of A.

Wendell: It's hard to say how close the water's comin' to this place. It's supposed to be in that hollow right down there. See, there's ridges and hollows all over this place. We got land all back yonder on the field and back across them woods, river bottoms and all such as that.

Cade: We got at least 22 little houses on this place, two hog houses with lights and water. But they don't care nothin' 'bout nothin'.

Wendell: That's somethin' been built on and worked on. That ain't saying it's fancy, but it's somethin' we worked hard to do. And they say they're gonna take it all.

Cade: We got a sawmill or we couldn't of built all these houses. Got our own sawmill. But they don't care. All they want's a job. Biggest liars in the world. I could kill 'em 'fore I'd move, but I know I'd get killed, and you got to look two or three different ways.

Wendell: They come, and he told 'em, he ain't goin' nowhere.

Cade: If somebody come in here right now, to lay me down $10,000 for my fishpond, I wouldn't take it. I got me a boat and I enjoy fishin'. That little pond's full of fish. Now when they build this thing, and kill all them fish down the river yonder, then people gonna get mad, after this dam's built.

Wendell: It's gonna cause a lot of bad feelin's.

Cade: It's done caused a lot.

Wendell: And they're just beginning. You wait 'til it really gets goin', and people realize what it's gonna do.

Cade: Ain't no tellin' what they're gonna destroy. It would take just us 12 months to move all our stuff out of these hills.

Wendell: Yep, they're gonna get all of that, if somethin' ain't done. Three families down on Van's Creek, they say they got to go, too. They say they'll be takin' 300 foot from the water. Now you study their map — a lot of places they will. But, in the low spots where it's wider, they'll be getting 700 foot. Ain't no sense in that. Ain't no sense in the dam to start with.

They're talkin' 'bout parks. I told 'em to tell me why they're wantin' more parks when they closed down all those (in Georgia) last year to save 'em some money. That's stupid to go spend money when they got all them parks already built. Why close 'em down and go spend money to build new ones?

Cade: They just want a job, that's all.

Wendell: But our job is animals and field crops; that's all we've got. Just this farm. We grow oats, corn, watermelon, tomatoes, everything.

Cade: Last summer, had 90 bushels of green peas. Yard was full of cars. Don't have to haul it. I used to have to haul it, but he don't ever have to haul it. Now folks drive out here.

Wendell: It's all I ever done. Ain't never worked on a job in my whole life. God knows where I'd go or what I'd do if I had to leave this place. It sure can't be beat nowhere else.

Cade: Town folks, you know, they don't hunt, they don't fish, and they don't know where their livin's comin' from. They don't know who's makin' that, I don't reckon. You know, farmers gonna quit farmin', and somebody's gonna get hungry in this country some of these days.

Wendell: Those folks figure maybe there'll be a lot of travelers, and they'll get to sell 'em drinks, stuff like that. I don't say a few people won't make some money like that but, good gosh, look what it's gonna destroy.

They don't know what's up and down this river; they don't think it's gonna disbenefit nothin' or nobody. Probably ain't never been out of Elberton. People just don't know how much it's gonna hurt.

Cade: People don't care, that's what's the matter.

Wendell: I still believe there's hope. It's gone a long ways, but what they've done ain't nothin' compared to what it's gonna be.

Cade: That ain't gonna be a drop in a ten million gallon barrel.

Wendell: More people are realizin' that every day. They're finally hearing somebody besides the engineers. I have to believe it can be stopped.

he'll be the sorriest . . .

Afternoon clouds rolling in over the Cleveland's farm.

How the Corps buys the land

"APPROXIMATELY 25 farm operations will be affected to some extent. Ten will be affected seriously. And of those 10, five will actually require relocations. The Clevelands are in the final five."

This comes from Jim Ellis, real estate manager for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Richard Russell Project. Ellis, headquartered in Elberton, is charged with surveying, mapping and buying property for the 30,000-acre Richard Russell Reservoir and its surrounding 20,000-acre recreation area. For the next five years he will have the task of buying land from people who don't want to sell.

What he means in the above figures is that 25 farmers will have to sell at least some of their land to the Corps to make way for the reservoir. Of those 25, 10 will have to sell most of their land to the Corps, and of those 10, five will have to give up their farms and their farmhouses altogether. Eighteen of the farms are in Georgia; seven are in South Carolina.

Ellis believes it will be at least three years before the Clevelands have to give up their farm. Initially, Ellis will have their farm assessed and he will offer to pay the Clevelands what he feels is the farm's real market value.

The Clevelands, though, are adamant about not dealing with the Corps, and they likely face the prospect of having their farm condemned. The Corps has the right of eminent domain, and can go to the U.S. District Court in Macon to get an order of condemnation to force the Clevelands to sell their farm for a price set by a judge. If the family won't physically move off the farm, the Corps then has the power to bring in U.S. marshals to insure that the job is done.

"That rarely happens," says Ellis.

As cited in John Baskin's book, "New Burlington; The Life and Death of an American Village," the Corps has a bad track record in dealing equitably with property owners.

New Burlington, until the mid-1960s, was a town of 400 people in southwest Ohio. The Corps took the entire town to make way for the reservoir waters from the Ceasar Creek Dam. Many of the town's elderly inhabitants died during the years that the Corps quite literally had the town under seige. Baskin asserts they died in part because of the shock of being told that their lifelong homes were going to be inundated.

Baskin cites examples of the Corps offering to pay only $400 per acre for farmland when in surrounding areas comparable land was priced at $1,000 per acre.

The Clevelands say that under no circumstances will they sell their farm. When asked, "What if you have no other choice?" Windell Cleveland will simply stutter.

Ellis says the possibility of getting U.S. marshals to move the family is slight. "We don't even like to think about that procedure. It will be the absolute last resort."

In the Clevelands' case, nevertheless, it is a possibility.

—STEVE ONEY

As construction on the Richard Russell Dam continues, Cade and Windell Cleveland watch. And wait.

By Steve Oney

ALWAYS, there had been the river; there had been the farm. When they were told that the farm and the river would perish, they knew it could not be true.

Friday was no different from any other weekday. When Windell Cleveland drove back to the house in the International, he heard his daddy, Cade, cussing behind the chinaberry trees.

The ax was still out. Blood covered the blade where it rested on a slab of concrete. Feathers clung to a low oak stump stained with the russet, gory patina of 50 years. The broiler had not been dead long. Cade was standing over the concrete slab, gutting the bird with a pocket knife. When he finally noticed that his son had come around, he cussed again. "Windell, that damn tomcat jumped right up here and I'm gonna kill him if he does it again." Windell nodded and rubbed the flat of his right hand lightly across the sun-dyed fabric of his shirt where it bloused out around his stomach. The shirt was still blue in the creases. They were both standing under the chinaberry trees now. The leaves were blinding green. Cade pulled the knife up the bird's belly once more. It made a zipper sound. The bright guts spilled into his hands, and he dumped them into a steaming vat. Flies and yellow jackets were diving into the cauldron.

It was early, not much past 8 a.m., but by the manner in which the low cumulus clouds were coming down from the South Carolina side of the Savannah, you knew that the day was going to be hot, that its inevitable conclusion would be a violent gathering up of heat and wind and water and lightning. "It rained two nights ago," Windell said. He had walked around to the front of his daddy's place. He was kicking his muddy black brogans against the front porch steps. The steps lead to the tidy white frame house where Cade has lived almost longer than his memory goes back. They are made of newly poured concrete. Etched into them are the words: "Welcome to the Clevelands. Stop the Dam!"

"I was mighty proud of that rain," Windell said. He walked into the house, past two dusty, dank pump organs, past the cardboard boxes Cade is using as incubators for his baby guineas, past the ratty couch where Cade sleeps with three rifles, a shotgun and a pistol at his side, into the kitchen where Cade was now standing. The chicken had been cut into parts and placed in a clean, stainless steel bowl.

Cade was shaking his head; the motion was almost imperceptible. It is his characteristic, as much a part of him as are his Army fatigue pants and his long-sleeved work shirt with the collar pulled up high around his neck, obscuring his neck, making the tottering of his head seem detached. He was holding a soft, cardboard package of G.E. lightbulbs destined for his incubators.

It had been a hard year: There were the long nights on the couch where he slept with his guns waiting for them to come and get him and take him off his farm; there was a time when he had been sick and had lost as much blood internally as a man can lose and still live. But in the spring, he had rallied, gained weight. And now as he entered his 81st summer on the farm, he felt strong. He had decided to raise guineas and turkeys in what might be called a spirit of renewal.

His one good eye blinked behind his heavy-lensed glasses and he said, "If he stops it, he'll be the best President there ever was, and if he doesn't, he'll be the sorriest and I'd tell him that to his face if he was here."

And then Cade Cleveland was out the back door and into the 1949 International, a fine, hard-riding black pickup truck that has no headlights and stares you in the face head on, like a blind man. He was going out to check the several steel traps that had been set near the road leading into the farm. At night, the bobcats and foxes that have been driven into this last 29-mile stretch where the Savannah runs free above Augusta raid the Cleveland's livestock. If the Richard B. Russell Dam is built, this final, free-flowing span of the Savannah will be inundated by a 30,000-acre lake. Much of the Cleveland's farm will be covered with water. What is not will be used as a public park.

THROUGH the winter, the spring and the summer, the story has continued to change. And all the while, Cade and Windell Cleveland have watched with intense, almost morbid, fascination; fear and anger. They have been like Job, waiting to see what trials God — in this case, Jimmy Carter — would force them to endure next.

Shortly after Carter was inaugurated as President, he promised he would stop more than a score of U.S. Army Corps of Engineers water and dam projects by excluding them from his 1977 budget. The Richard B. Russell Dam was not one of the Corps projects Carter planned to halt. Carter soon sensed that he had angered the kind of congressmen who regularly repay political debts by building dams and post offices in their home districts. Carter's critics believe he then decided to kill funding for the Russell project to offer a sacrificial lamb in his own state. Carter has long been on record as opposing the Army Corps of Engineers self-perpetuating projects, but when he saw that even the Georgia offering would not appease the congressmen, he had afterthoughts. He decided that most of the Corps projects he had originally opposed should go on. The Russell Dam would be built.

STELLA RAWLS RECALLS

Stella Rawls recalls 93 years of changes in her home town of Ocala, Florida. She was born over on what was Pond Street (now N.W. 4th Avenue) two blocks west of Magnolia to George Wesley and Mary Turner Cleveland on September 2, 1893. Her dad had built the home where she was born.

I've so enjoyed my visits with Mrs. Rawls recently; having her tell me both hers and her home town's life story. She is a real neat lady!

"My daddy, George Wesley Cleveland, arrived in Ocala, Florida aboard the train from South Carolina. It was not long after the big fire in 1883 when downtown Ocala burned up. When he stepped off the train there at the depot on Osceola Street, behind where the Ocala House Hotel was, the first thing he saw was stacks of bricks and building going on as far as he could see. Now, Daddy was an engineer by trade and had hopes of getting work with a railroad here. The need was greater for builders at that time, so he went to work right away. He helped to build the Ocala House Hotel out of brick.

He was fortunate to find lodging in a two story wooden building about where the public library stands today. This was a Boarding House kind of building operated by a colored lady who was an excellent cook and kept a spotless house. There was a large dining room in the front and sleeping quarters for upstairs for the working men. She lived in separate quarters in the back. Many of the downtown employees had lunch there daily."

George Wesley Cleveland and Mary Ella Turner Cleveland, parents of Stella Cleveland Rawls.

"Daddy was able to get on as Engineer with the Silver Springs, Ocala and Gulf Railway before too long. It was during this time that he met my mother, Mary Turner, first cousin of Burke Turner. Burke Turner is the former owner of Florida Nursery and Landscape Co. here in Ocala. The Turners lived at a little community known as Gaitor near the Withlacoochee River. I'll tell you, those folks down at Gaitor could give the best fish fries that you ever saw. There were some marvelous cooks down there.

Shortly, Mama and Daddy were married and he began to look for some lots to build a house. He wanted one not too far from the railroad where he would be working. There were four lots available on North Pond Street, just south of where Gulf Oil is located today. That is what he bought. Back then it was a nice residential neighborhood.

I'll tell you some other families that lived in our neighborhood. You're more than likely to know them. Behind my parents (George Cleveland's) home lived Frank and Mellie Hall and their children. One of their daughters, Alma, married A.A. Musseau, and their children were Glyndal, who married Jack Kemp, and Anthony, Jr., fondly called "Dooley", who married Ione Barksdale.

Right next door to us (Rawls) was a house that was purchased by Alonzo Graham and Mellie Dudley Long. The Longs had always lived across the river, but their friend, Ernest Clark, City Manager, knew of their need to move to town in 1940 and made them aware of the bargain of this house. The A.G. Longs continued to live in the house at 412 N. Pond Street until possibly 1970, when they moved to Island Lake to be near their son and daughter-in-law, Harry and Margaret Long. When Harry and Margaret were first married, they, too, lived on N. Pond at 407.

The majority of these old houses have been razed and new law offices are being built in this locality at a rapid pace. This is close to the Courthouse, which makes it an ideal location for an attorney.

Mr. George A. Carmichael had come to Ocala in 1885 from Midway, Alabama. He married Martha J. Lockhart, an Alabama girl. The known children were Columbus (Ed), Mattie, who married Benjamin Joseph Culverhouse; and Mollie E., who married a Badger. Mr. G.A. Carmichael was very active in the city government, serving as Alderman (councilman) for more than fifteen years. He laid the foundation for a number of businesses. He also carried a musket for three years for the lost cause of the South, during the Civil War, serving from Alabama.

He built the big Carmichael building on North Magnolia Street, occupying the entire 400 block. Upstairs was the very popular Carmichael Saloon, with the most modern facilities. There was a brass rail to prop your feet on and a smooth tile floor for dancing. His young son, Ed, worked in the saloon for his father.

On the ground floor of the building were a variety of businesses: Blalock Brothers Furniture, owned by Lewis J. Blalock (grandfather of J.W. Bray and George Wenzel) and his brother, Gipson Blalock of Tifton, Georgia (see photo); Ollie Mordis Vegetables and Fancy Foods, Bittings Drug Store, which was started in September of 1914 under the name of Bitting and Knight (later owned and operated by H.H. Bitting, Sr.; the forerunner of present day Bitting's Drugs); the Ocala Exchange and Hide Company, under the management of J.T. Williams; A.G. Gates' Service Station; and Moses Grocery, the location later to become Chambers' Feed Store, followed by Security Feed and Seed owned by the Gray family (John, Rusty and Irene's father. There were other enterprises, but they don't come to mind."

One thing that I found interesting was that C. Ed Carmichael worked in the saloon, no more than a block away from the business of Ray and Thomson Building Supply Co., owned by W.C. Ray, H. Mc. N. Wade, and H. Thomson. In the same block radius I find the restaurant of W.M. "Shorty" Davidson, there at the Union Depot.

In later years, you see, Ed Carmichael became the owner of Silver Springs and leased it to W.C. Ray and "Shorty" Davidson. Can't you just see those three enterprising young businessmen gathered at the saloon to plot their course?

George A. Carmichael died November 29, 1915. Services were held in his house. A number of years later, after the death of of Mrs. Carmichael, Stella Rawls occupied this very house with her husband Charles, an employee of the Seaboard Railway; and their five children: Eleanor, Iris, Charles, Ruth, and William Wesley.

Mrs. Rawls continues, "My Dad continued to work for Silver Springs, Ocala and Gulf Railway for quite some time. Well, he worked until they decided to move their main office and yard to High Springs. He was asked to transfer there. Mama and Daddy had their family started, owned their home, and did not want to leave Ocala. George Cleveland then started to work ır the Police Department. His first assignment was on the night shift. He orked up, did his job well, and eventually became Town Marshal. I think ıat's about the same as Chief of Police. He held this job until there was a kind f shake-up among some of the City Councilmen. Politics remains the same, guess, no matter what period of time. You know what I mean? At any rate, ıy dad was NOT a "yes man", so he was transferred from Town Marshal to lead of the Sanitation Department. Back then there was no central sewage ystem. Everyone had cess pools (septic tanks). Being head of the depart- ıent, Daddy was lucky. He had two city employees under him that drove big vo-horse wagons with a liner in the bed. Whenever anyone's cess pool ran ver, they would contact George Cleveland, who would send out the drivers ith shovels, ropes and buckets to clean it out. I don't believe I ever heard hat they did with it."

Stella Rawl's daughter, Eleanor, was visiting recently when I was with her. leanor recalls hearing her grandfather, Cleveland, talk of the terrible times e had with mad dogs while he was with the Police Department. There were o shots for rabies in those days, and someone was always coming, scared to eath, to the Town Marshal, telling them of seeing a mad dog (one with abies). She recalls hearing Mr. Cleveland tell of the agonizing death of iends and neighbors who died from rabies after being bitten by a mad dog.

I asked Mrs. Rawls which local schools she went to. "The high school, at ıat time, was located on South Lime Street, across a side street from obert's Funeral Home. This was Ocala's first high school.

My daddy was a very devout member of the Associated Reformed resbyterian Church. Therefore, he wouldn't hear of me going away to chool to any but the Women's Preparatory Associated Reformed resbyterian School in Due West, South Carolina. Erskine College is located at Due West, also, They're in Abbeville County. My roommate was a cousin of one of my boyfriends. He attended Clemson College in Clemson, South Carolina, and it was through her that I met Tom Haddon. I attended several functions at Clemson College when he was there."

I asked her who her very first boyfriend was. "Why, it was Haywood Parker, a handsome young man with pretty brown eyes. You know, that makes me think of something. We were just talking about our neighbors, the Carmichaels. One of the first cars in Ocala was owned by G.A. Carmichael. He had a hard time trying to figure how to drive it. He was a good business man, but couldn't seem to get the hang of driving that car. Haywood Parker was real good with anything mechanical, so, most of the time, Mr. Carmichael would call for Haywood to come and 'drive this dang thing for me.'

The first car that I ever saw, though, was owned by Collie Clark. He had a daughter, named Collie also, who married the Barnes who operated Barnes Beach on Lake Weir for so long.

Now, you must realize that the Carmichaels did finally get the hang of the 'horseless carriage.' I think it was probably through the son, Ed.

My husband, Charles Rawls, was born at Fellowship in 1889. He was the son of William B. and Maggie Bennett Rawls, who had four other children. The Rawls family are early Marion County Pioneers, much earlier than the Clevelands." Charles' great-grandfather, William C. "Cotton" Rawls registered his mark and brand August 2, 1845, by Clerk Alexander McLeod, to wit: Swallowfork and fleur de lis in one ear and under slope and under bit in the other. He was one of the first County Commissioners and was the first Postmaster of Wacahoota in 1842, when Wacahoota was a part of Marion County. Wacahoota is now in Alachua County.

Under the Armed Occupation Act of 1843, both George and John G. Rawls received land in this area. So the Rawls are truly "Florida Pioneers."

Charles had four brothers and sisters; Daisy, Ernest, Hardee, and Bessie.

When his first wife died, Will Rawls remarried Amanda Luffman, the daughter of William Henry and Amanda E. Smith Luffman of Ker City, Lake Kerr; also Florida Pioneers. Will and Amanda were the parents of eight children. At his death, Will Rawls left thirteen surviving children.

I met my future husband, Charles Rawls, when he was clerking at H.B. Master's store on the courthouse square. He worked there for four years before we were married and four years after. His best friend was Charlie Simpson, who also clerked in a downtown store. They were roommates at The Arms House on Ft. King Avenue. Their friendship continued until their death. Charlie Rawls and I were married in 1916. Before too long, he went to work for the Seaboard Railway and put in twenty years with them. I would walk each day with a hot lunch for him. That's why we never lived too far from the tracks.

When Abner Pooser bought the Carmichael house on Pond Street, we moved over to what was at one time known as Clark Lane, just one block off

The William Brooks Rawls Family. L to R back row: Van Hood Rawls, who married Lola Carr Howze; Effie, who married Ludlow; Paul, who married Alice Bryant; Emma, who married Bill Jordon and Jan Osterhout; Henry, who married Georgia; Amanda Luffman Rawls; James Alton, who married Sarah Atkinson; George, who married Marjorie Yongue; Roy, who never married; and William B. Rawls (holding George).

Anthony Road (N.E. 8th Avenue) to the old home of Dr. Boney, then owned by Candy Mullins. We rented.

The Boney House was located on the corner, next door to the house that I now own. This is my home. It was first owned by another physician, Dr. Crawford. I can't recall his given name, but, as you can see by the picture, it was, and still is, a large house. Dr. Crawford had one daughter, that I can remember, Dorothy. I believe that she later worked at Rheinaur's Department store on the Square. You know, you might be interested to hear this little story that my friend, Estell Howell Franklin Swain told me. When she was about six years old, the Howells moved from Oak, where Mr. Lee Howell owned a crate mill; to a big house there on Sanchez Street. They had five children: Charles, Edward, Estelle, Ruth, and Robert. They owned almost the entire block. Their property ran from Sanchez Street back to Tuscawilla, so, having plenty of room, the Howells brought their fine Jersey Milch cow to town with them. The cow gave them much more milk than the Howells could use, so little Estelle was elected to deliver the extra milk to the Bouviers and Dr. Crawford's family. Estelle and Dorothy were best friends.

The Howells were not to remain in town in their lovely new house for very long. In 1914, Mr. Lee Howell died, at a fairly early age, and his widow, Kate, felt that she could best raise the children in the country rather than in town. So the town house was sold and the Howells moved back to a farm that they owned at Oak."

Mrs. Rawls continues, "We lived in the old Dr. Boney house until it was sold to the Newsom family. We didn't have anywhere to live at all. There weren't many rental houses in Ocala back then. Our friend, Charles C. Simpson, had meanwhile bought the big house that I now own and fixed it up for apartments. He saw to it that we had one of the bigger and better ones in the big house. I have lived in this big old house now for forty years and I call it home. It was through Charles and Jean Simpson that I was able to own it."

I asked Stella Rawls what she misses most with so many changes in our county. "Well, I really do miss those marvelous County Fairs that we used to have. There was more agriculture back then and everyone in the county came to exhibit something. There were many blue ribbons and much prize money won. There were all kinds of vegetables, pies, cakes, canned goods, quilts, and farm animals of every kind. The Marion County Fair lasted for a week and the Fairgrounds were crowded every day and night. It was the highlight of the year.

Of course, it made me sick when they tore down the Post Office and the Courthouse, and I still miss the Bandstand . . . it brings back so many memories, you know what I mean?

I'll tell you somebody else that lived in our block later on. It was Nolie Dea's Granny Robinson. She came from Gaitor, where my mother's family came from, over there near the Withlacoochee River. I knew her well. Then there was the Adams' family. Exa Adams married Oscar Theus.

I lost my Charlie in 1958 after forty-two years of marriage. I am still a devout Presbyterian. If I had one wish, it would be that everyone could have 93 years of happiness and as many friends as I have."

Maggie Bennett Rawls, the first wife of William B. Rawls.

The children of W.B. and Maggie Bennett Rawls (1st wife) were Charles W., who married Stella Cleveland (shown in above picture); Daisy, who married Horace Walston; Ernest, who married Effie; Hardee, who married Marjorie; and Bessie, who married Frank Pooser.
